Managing a Multicultural World
Develop Intercultural Skills and Improve your French
Summer School in France: 8-26 August 2011

Every year, Telecom Bretagne, one of the major graduate engineering colleges in Western France, organizes a French Language Summer School for incoming international students on its campus in Brest.

The classes are taught in small multicultural groups from all over the world. During the 5 daily hours of classes with French native-speaker teachers, students are encouraged to participate, using role-play, games and multimedia.

Students can take advantage of our impressive seaside campus with activities including all sorts of water sports and rock climbing. They will also have the opportunity to discover Western France's most beautiful historical sites.

This is a great opportunity to study French in an inviting natural environment and to create lasting international friendships.

The Summer School is open to all international students with a French level ranging from beginner to intermediate.

Program

August 8th to August 21st
